KAISER IS IN POLAND

Takes Field to Encourage Troops.

FIERCE BATTLE RAGES

German Advance Has Apparently Been Checked.

London, Nov. 30.—While deprecating the exaggerated reports of Russian successes in the battle in northern Poland, where the German emperor has joined Field Marshal von Hindenburg to offer his advice and to encourage his troops, the latest available official reports from Russian headquarters say the advantage in the fighting still lies with the Russian army.

It is also officially said that enormous losses have been inflicted on the Germans, but no mention is made of the character of the German division which has been so freely claimed by the Petrograd correspondents of London and Paris papers.

Opposed to this is the German official report, which says that the Russian attacks have been repulsed and the German counter attacks have been successful.

Some days must elapse before this battle, which promises to prove the most decisive of the war, is concluded. All that is definitely known is that the German advance has been brought to a standstill. Some of the German troops have been partly or wholly surrounded, but they are still fighting stubbornly to break their way through the Russian lines, apparently to the northward, where they hope to join reinforcements sent from Thorn.

In the battle before Cracow the Russians claim decisive success. During the last week they took 20,000 Austrian and German prisoners in this region. This victory is taken in Petrograd to mean Cracow will not be the Russian advance in Silesia, to the south, but that with the Austrian army beaten it will be necessary only to mask the fortress.

Russians Announce Successes.

The Russians likewise announce success on the Austrian side of the Carpathians and against the Turks in the Caucasus, although in both regions the worst of weather has prevailed.

In the western arena the Germans, although making an occasional infantry attack, seem at present content to bombard the allied positions, but with somewhat lighter guns than they have been using. This may mean either that they are sending troops and artillery to the east to use against the Russians, or that they are preparing a new attack against the allies.

That the enterprise that failed in Flanders will not be repeated for the present seems probable, as the allies have been allowed to capture some points of vantage around Ypres, which were previously considered necessary to the German plans. There has not been a minor attack near Arras, but not in strong enough force to suggest the Germans have tried to get to the coast by direct route from the east.

Field Marshal French, in an interesting report, doubtless in response to the demands of the British public, tells what the various units of the expeditionary force have been doing—those that failed and were cut off and those who, against superior numbers, held the trenches for a month. He gives it as his opinion that the German losses have been thrice as great as those of the allies and speaks optimistically of the future.

OPPOSES WOMAN SUFFRAGE

Mrs. Arthur Dodge Writes Letter to President Wilson.

Washington, Nov. 30.—In protest against the latest request of woman suffrage leaders for an audience with President Wilson to ask his support for a constitutional suffrage amendment Mrs. Arthur Dodge, president of the National Association Opposed to Woman Suffrage, addressed a letter to the president setting forth arguments against the proposals of the suffragists.

Mrs. Dodge wrote to the president that the attempt of the suffragettes to get popular endorsement at the last elections had been a "dismal failure," and protested "in the names of twenty million mature women in America who are not suffragettes" against national legislation "that would nullify the expressed will of the majority of men and women in the separate states to decide this issue according to their constitutional provisions."

PEACE TO WARRING EUROPE

Bryan Says Love and Not Siege Guns Is Solution.

Chicago, Nov. 30.—"Love, not dreadnoughts and siege guns, is to bring back peace to warring Europe," was the text of a sermon preached by Secretary Bryan to Presbyterians of Chicago who filled a downtown theater.

"The nations of the world have dealt with each other on the basis of fear," said Secretary Bryan. The flag has represented a power of which the people have been afraid. Why don't the nations learn the only foundation on which nations can dwell together is love?"

Mr. Bryan denounced the liquor traffic.

"It is insanity to try to cure the evils of society without stopping the source of evil," he asserted.

30,000 TONS OF FOOD NEEDED IN BELGIUM

Commission Reports Condition of Sufferers Is Urgent.

The Hague, Nov. 30.—The Dutch government has categorically declined all offers of financial aid for Belgian refugees in Holland, which were recently unofficially offered by an American charity. While deeply appreciative of the generous proposals the government says it feels that it would be incompatible with the country's honor to allow another nation or individual association to assist in this mercy work and that Holland desires to provide herself for all those different neighbors who are afflicted by the war.

Of the million Belgian refugees, who fled into Holland at the beginning of the war, 300,000 penniless ones remain. One-half of these are living in the two southern provinces of Brabant and Zeeland. The remainder are divided among 800 communities.

Winter is approaching and these refugees are now being gathered together in specially constructed camps situated on the dunes of heath and at other healthful spots. For this purpose a special budget of about $1,500,000 has been passed to cover the expenses until January. After that a further credit of $3,000,000 will be given.

CALLS HIMSELF PRESIDENT

General Gonzales Complicates Situation in Mexico.

Washington, Nov. 30.—Advices received at the state department from Aguas Calientes said General Pablo Gonzales, now at Pachuca, with a force of 8,000 men, had declared himself provisional president of Mexico. Gonzales, who was one of the foremost leaders of the Constitutional army in the campaign against Huerta, had been supposed to be unwaveringly loyal to Carranza.

F. J. McPartlin, of International Falls, of Legislative Committee, Gives History

ORGANIZED FEBRUARY, 1910

Launched at Bemidji, Second Meeting Crookston, Third Convention at Brainerd

This brief history of the Northern Minnesota Development Association is given by F. J. McPartlin, of international falls, a member of the legislative committee. The association has done more than any other body for favorable legislation. Mr. McPartlin says:

In February, 1910, at Bemidji, Minnesota, the Northern Minnesota Development association was organized. The enthusiastic manner in which this organization was launched aroused the state to the importance of northern Minnesota. Its resolutions were declared at that time to be worthy of being called the platform of principles of a new political party. So sweeping were the demands made at that time by this organization that the injustices heretofore allowed to continue were made the features of all progressive political action. The spirit manifested by the members and leaders of the new organization occasioned no little public comment and bred a wholesome respect throughout the state for the rights of this heretofore neglected region.

The second meeting of the organization was held that same year at Crookston, and the work given further impetus by the determined expression of the large delegation that attended the Crookston convention. A plan of action was outlined looking to the development of this vast empire and first and foremost among the just demands of Northern Minnesota was that of legislative reapportionment. The injustice done northern Minnesota in the matter of representation was exposed and all fair-minded citizens throughout the state recognized that the people of this territory were asking for a constitutional right. All political parties in this state made reapportionment one of the planks of the party platform and drafted also among their advocated reforms many of the demands for which this organization stood pledged to work.

The third convention was held late that same fall at the city of Brainerd and at a time when the whole state had been educated to the belief that this organization was one to be reckoned with in the matter of legislation, looking to the development of Northern Minnesota and thus making for a greater, bigger and more prosperous state. The legislative action that followed in the winter of 1911 placed upon the statute books of this state practically every demand of this association, with the sole exception of reapportionment. Every

HIBBING WOULD LAND

Duluth Commercial Club and Several Other Commercial Bodies Will Support Range Town

A Hibbing special says that "the Duluth Commercial club will assist the Hibbing organizations to land the next meeting of the Northern Minnesota Development association according to a letter received today by Secretary J. L. Lewis from Lulea, Col. Eva, secretary of the Duluth organization.

With the enlistment of the Zenith city club local men feel confident that they will have no difficulty in landing the association meeting for next summer as Hibbing has the support of every city on the range which will be represented at the Brainerd convention.

Ten delegates will be appointed by President W. L. Galloway to carry on the campaign at Brainerd.

The association has never met on the range. This fact coupled with the famous mining scenery here and the remarkable progress of range cities generally in school, civic and industrial lines, will be inducements offered."

GERMAN FORCES IN TIGHT PLACE

Russians Cut One Army Into Three Parts.

TRYING TO ENVELOP THEM

Military Experts Believe Operations Will Not Result in Complete Surrounding of the Teutons, but Declare Purpose of German Campaign Against Warsaw Has Been Frustrated.

Petrograd, Nov. 30.—A review of the military operations in the last week by both sides at the rear of Lodz, as given out semi-officially here, indicates the German army under General Mackensen has been cut in three parts.

The right wing still is struggling fifteen miles west-southwest of Lodz in an attempt to unite with the column sent to its assistance from Vienna. The center is ten miles north-east by north of Lodz and still is engaged in a desperate effort to cut its way west to rejoin the left wing, which is partially cut off from the strongest position on the Vistula.

This army, the review asserts, is moving back before Russian onslaughts, but is stubbornly disputing the Russian advance.

In this quarter the Russian advance is from Gombin, fifty miles north of Lodz. It is estimated the centers of the three parts of the German force are at least twenty miles apart and that the middle one is acting entirely on its own initiative, being completely isolated from the others.

It is said main bodies of the German wing are maintaining a thin line of communication to the rear, extending in semi-circular shape, a distance of forty miles. Russian experts declare this situation is one of the most unprecedented in the history of warfare.

In the opinion of these experts the operations will not result in the complete surrounding of the Germans, but they declare the purpose of the German campaign against Warsaw has been entirely frustrated.

The alleged failure of the German plan is attributed to what is termed a reckless attempt to cut the Russian center line.

During all the operation Lodz is said to have been under attack more than once, but the only damage sustained was the burning of the electric power plant and the suburban railroad station.

MASONS PLAN WAR RELIEF

Nationwide Movement to Aid Sufferers in Europe.

Cincinnati, Nov. 30.—At a meeting of prominent Masons from all over the country here a movement, nationwide in its scope, was launched to provide funds to aid the war sufferers in Europe. Forty-six of the forty-nine grand commanders of the country expressed their approval of the plan, while the other three commanders have not been heard from.

It is estimated that there are 1,580,000 Masons in the United States and it is hoped to obtain at least $1 from each of them. This city will be made the headquarters for the collection and distribution of the funds.

The relief will not be confined to Masons or their families, but will be given to all the suffering, as far as practicable.

CANADIAN TURNKEY IS SLAIN

Jailer Also Is Injured When Two Indians Break Jail.

Pembroke, Ont., Nov. 30.—Robert Coxford, turnkey to the Renfrew county jail here, was murdered and William Brown, the jailer, was seriously injured during a successful attempt at jail breaking by two Indians, White Duck and Anthony Jocko, who were being held on a charge of theft. When Coxford entered the jail corridor with some supplies one of the Indians struck him on the head with a chair, fracturing his skull.

Brown was beaten into insensibility with an iron poker. The Indians escaped by the main entrance to the county building.

TRIPLE MURDER IS CHARGE

North Carolinian Accused of Slaying Two Women and a Man.

Ashboro, N. C., Nov. 30.—Lowe Daniels, a mountaineer, was placed in jail here charged with the murder of his sister, Cora Daniels, his wife's sister, Ethel Luther, and Edgar Varner. The three were found dead from bullet wounds in Daniels' home near here. Mrs. Daniels also was seriously wounded.

GENERAL FRENCH HOPEFUL

Says German Infantry Attacks Have Practically Ceased.

London, Nov. 30.—Field Marshal Sir John French, commander-in-chief of the British forces in the field, speaks in an optimistic vein concerning the position of the allies in a report issued by the official press bureau. The report covers in a general way the activities of the British troops from Oct. 11 to Nov. 20.

Summing up the situation in concluding his report Field Marshal French says:

"As I close this dispatch signs are in evidence that we are possibly in the last stages of the battle from Ypres to Arras. For several days past the artillery fire of the enemy has slackened considerably and his infantry attacks practically have ceased."

HOLLAND IS TAKING CARE OF BELGIANS

Dutch Government Declines Offers of Financial Aid.

New York, Nov. 30.—The Rockefeller Foundation, in a statement issued, says it has received from its war relief commission at Rotterdam a very favorable report on the efficiency of the organization for the distribution of food and clothing for the needy Belgians. Wycliffe Rose, chairman of the foundation's commission, reports that the need of additional supplies is still most urgent and that contributions of 20,000 tons in addition to the cargoes already assured must be shipped during December.

Arrangements have been made, the foundation says, for the transportation of 25,000,000 pounds of food to reach the suffering Belgians before the first of the year.

The American commission for relief in Belgium also has arranged for the dispatching of several steamers with relief cargoes.

The first early shipment will be on the steamer Bastian, which sails from Philadelphia Saturday, carrying a cargo of 280,000 bushels of wheat, valued at about $300,000.

Ships from San Francisco and Puget Sound carrying Pacific coast donations are also to leave soon, steaming through the Panama canal.

The Custom Is Spreading and the National Colors Used in Many Ways.

Many wealthy women of New York are having the coat-of-arms of the city stamped on their tablecloths and napkins. Outside the city "smart" hostesses engrave the State shield on their table linen. The custom is spreading, and the national colors are coming into use for the same purpose. Mrs. Claude Swanson, wife of the former Governor of Virginia, has her plate glass and naperies marked with the shield of the Old Dominion.
All the linen in the White House is marked with the great seal familiar in State Department documents, but not until this year were the national colors used for that purpose. Pres-den effects for the table appear as popular as for the gowns. All the foreign establishments in Washington have their linen marked with their national emblems. Even the furniture in the British embassy is surmounted by gilt lions and unicorns, while every possession of the Germans shows the double black eagle of Prussia.

Why a Boiler Sweats.

A boiler "sweats" because the moisture in the warm air outside it is condensed on the cold metal surface. This surface is kept cold by the water in the boiler. None of this water oozes through the metal, which is not porous.
All the water that forms on the surface of the boiler is condensed from the surrounding air. Lighting a fire in the range will dispel it at once.

THOUGH YOU ESCAPE WITH YOUR LIFE

If fire occurs at your place, you will not find it sweet if the flames leave you penniless. All your remaining days will be filled with regret that you hadn't taken out insurance when you could. Fire is just as likely to happen to you as to anybody else. Be wise and have us insure you today.
Then fire will not spell ruin for you.

AMERICAN FASHION NEWS

The Circular Skirt and the Fitted Bodice are the Modes of the Hour—Other News

The circular skirt and the fitted bodice are the modes of the hour. Just as they will be developed as the ring season advances is still open discussion. The circular skirts own in the advance models have a fullness very carefully arranged, ten it is concealed beneath a drape or yoke, the width coming at her side, while the front and the back are plain. Again a wide sash belt will be used to give the effect of a yoke.

Many of the little full skirts are aloped or slashed in block effects at the bottom. This can be effectively accomplished in the taffeta lining frocks. One of the newest models in taffeta was finished at the bottom of the skirt by two narrow flaps each outlined in scallops to match the scalloped edge of the long line which hung straight and full from a wide girdle.

Premet shows with all his suits in little bodices of chiffon. The sleeves are always long and many of them have the bishop tendencies, another idea, borrowed from the ceremonious coats of the Louis, calls for pushing the sleeves at the elbow to show a puff of another material to follow through.

Many of the old-fashioned sleeves, 1830 are being copied in detail. The old bell sleeve is one of these revivals and it was trimmed, as it fell away from the elbow, just as the grandmothers trimmed them with a lattice work of black velvet ribbon.

On other sleeves puffs, two and three mounting to the elbow, are caught by bands of black velvet ribbon. And on many of the little evening dresses now being made up the little puffed sleeve of the long ago is shown. It is also in high favor for the dancing frocks of net which are ruffled and flower trimmed as the days of the beautiful Eugenie. A model just designed shows what a really beautiful thing the once derided cotton petticoat can be. It is not too sheer batiste, cut in deep V-shape fashion, a little longer in the back than in front, and fastens in the back under a line of haal embroidery. From the yoke down, the skirt is slightly circular, lapping over the left like an envelope, thus making the center front double. All the edges are finished with deep scalps of haal embroidery in a most effective pattern. The width of this skirt is two yards. It can be worn even with a dark tailored suit on the street especially with the white topped shoes and hose so much affected by the Chicago and New York women.—Furnished by Galsard Corset Co., courtesy H. P. Michael Co.

To Entertain Aid

Mrs. Ed. Day will entertain the Ladies Aid society of the Catholic Order of Foresters on Wednesday afternoon at 3 o'clock at her home, 312 North Fifth street.

Concert Friday

One of the most interesting recitals ever given in this section of the state will be given next Friday at the Congregational church. It is not often one is given an opportunity to listen to 15 or 16 violin solos in a single evening, and an orchestra of 18 pieces. Miss Eliza Armstrong has prepared three or four vocal solos that stand alone among songs written for the soprano voice. The program appears tomorrow. There will be no tickets sold in advance so bear the date in mind.

Man and Housekeeping.

"After you've been two weeks in the house with one of these terrible handy men that ask their wives to be sure to wipe between the lines of the forks and that know just how much raising bread ought to have and how to hang out a wash so each piece will get the best sun it's a real joy to get back to the ordinary kind of man. Yes, 'tis so!" Mrs. Gregg finished with much emphasis. "I want a man who should have sense about the things he's meant to have sense about, but when it comes to keeping house I like him real helpless, the way the Lord planned to have him and to keep him."—Youth's Companion.

Different Breakfast Views.

"A suitable breakfast menu for the brain worker," said a doctor on the staff of a great London hospital, "would be something on these lines: A little fresh fruit; one or two soft boiled eggs; some hard, thoroughly cooked toast with butter; one large or two small cups of tea. "Very light breakfasts are a latter day fad which has no scientific justification," said another physician. A third physician took quite the opposite view. "Breakfast is a habit, and a bad habit."

MUSICAL CLUB PROGRAM GIVEN

Morris R. Folsom and S. F. Alderman are the Soloists at Saturday's Session

PREPARING FOR CONVENTIONS

Reception to be Given Wednesday Afternoon to Visiting Ladies of the Conventions

It has been reported that musicians dread to appear before the Brainerd Musical club because the audience is so critical and so much depends upon its verdict. In other words, the complaint is made that this organization constitutes the highest musical court of appeal, and its verdict is accepted by the Brainerd public without question.

If such is the case, Mr. Morris R. Folsom is to be congratulated upon the favorable verdict he received last Saturday.

In his first number, Mr. Folsom proved himself equal to the technical difficulties of one of the most exacting of the piano works of Schuman, a composer who compelled the remodeling of the entire art of piano technique to provide the technical ability to perform his compositions.

In the Chopin Nocturn, Mr. Folsom showed originality of interpretation, and in both the Chopin numbers he displayed that strong feeling for rhythm which enables one to keep the pulse through all the varying moods and tempos of this eccentric genius.

But the performer was happiest in his last two numbers, a march by Poldini, the French title of which might and should be translated "dancing" and Liebeswalzer, by Moszkowski, which brought forth generous and spontaneous applause.

But applause may mean much or little, while rapt attention is the highest compliment that any audience can pay a performer, and this was the tribute that an audience of more than a hundred men and women paid to Mr. Folsom's talent and genuine musicianship.

Mr. Alderman proved his loyalty and dependability by appearing upon this program at all. His vocal chords were in such an inflamed condition, however, that he found it impossible to follow the program, and substituted that old favorite, "Rolling Down to Rio" for "The Sea," by McDowell, and "The Banjo Song," by Sidney Homer, for "Birds of Love Divine," by Hayden Wood.

The audience will be pleased to learn that Mr. Alderman has promised to sing both of these at some future time.

The third number, "When You Come Home," by W. H. Squire, was a particularly beautiful composition, and one that has taken London by storm, and was greeted by a storm of applause by this critical Brainerd audience.

It is difficult to imagine that gripe germs could roughen Mr. Alderman's vocal chords sufficiently to make his voice unpleasant, but they did succeed in making it very difficult for him to do himself any kind of justice. In spite of them, however, he produced many beautiful tones.

His daughter, Mrs. Walter Wieland, accompanied him in her usual more than creditable manner.

The president, Mrs. B. J. Broadly, announced that the reception to be given the visiting ladies to the two conventions that meet in Brainerd this week, will be on Wednesday afternoon, and asked the members to remember that this is given by the entire club, not by a committee from the club. She also announced a new venture on the part of the enterprising ladies in charge of the Children's Hour. On next Saturday, and on Dec. 19th and 31st, they will give a children's matinee at the Columbia theatre, where pictures of especial interest to children will be shown, which will be interspersed with attractive music. The proceeds will be used to bring Christmas cheer into homes where it would otherwise be lacking, and to make it possible to keep our library open every day.

The sale of Red Cross seals at the door brought the total amount up to $47.92, and the evening sale increased it by ten dollars. If this can be doubled during the next three days, Brainerd stands a good chance of getting the services of a visiting nurse free for one month, which would be a God-send to our Associated Charities, and those under their charge. No one but the Musical club gets a cent of commission out of the sale of these seals, and they will turn every cent over to the Associated Charities to be used in stamping out the "White Plague."

THE BABY CONTEST

These Babies Have Been Entered in the Contest that is Being Conducted This Week

Secretary Hansing informs the Dispatch that up to the present time the following babies have been entered for the contest:

Mrs. L. F. Hohman, twins, Richard Douglas and William Dean, born Jan. 12, 1914.

Mrs. Walter E. Smart, Lillian Belle, born April 17, 1914.

Mrs. J. F. Smart, Neil Russell, born March 29, 1914.

Mrs. A. R. Cass, Anna Caroline, born March 24, 1914.

Mrs. Geo. W. Greycox, Doris Mae, born Dec. 19, 1913.

PERSONAL MENTION

Miss Gladys Sewell has returned from Nisswa.

Miss Geneva Drawz, of Staples, is visiting Mrs. Weltha I. Rounds.

Mrs. E. M. Bartlett, of Eau Claire, Wis., has been the guest of Mrs. C. C. Wilcox and Mrs. Weltha I. Rounds.

Mrs. George Wooley, who has been the guest of her daughter, Mrs. B. C. McNamara, returned today to her home in St. Paul.

Miss Myrtle Seipp, Miss Marie Anderson, Miss Ruth Hagberg and Miss Hazel Goulet today went to Little Falls to resume their studies at the Little Falls business college.

The Misses Theresa, Margaret and Frances Hoerner returned from Pierz today where they spent a very pleasant Thanksgiving with Mr. and Mrs. Theo. Gross and family.

The Travel Class will meet with Mrs. T. E. Jones, 401 North Broadway this Monday evening, Nov. 30th at eight o'clock. The following papers will be read: "The Hope and Osage Indians," by Mrs. Henry I. Cohen, "The Indians of California," by Mrs. Bruce J. Broadly.

Bachelor Maids Dance

The Bachelor Maids gave a dance at Elks hall this evening. All arrangements have been perfected for a social event of some magnitude. No invitations were sent out this season, the ladies personally inviting friends and guests.

Gardner-Willis

Mr. Thomas Willis and Mrs. M. E. Gardner were married Sunday evening at 6:30 at St. Francis Catholic church, Rev. Father J. J. O'Mahoney officiating. The ceremony was performed in the presence of a few intimate friends and relatives. They left in the evening for Duluth, Chicago and the Twin Cities, where they will spend their honeymoon. They will be at home January 1 at 217 North Tenth street.

Mr. Willis is foreman of the planing mill of the Northern Pacific railway shops. The bride has made her home in Brainerd some years. Their many friends wish them much happiness and prosperity.

Persson-Rau

Miss Carrie Persson and Mr. Albert J. Rau were married Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the parsonage of St. Francis Catholic church, Rev. Father J. J. O'Mahoney officiating. The bride was attired in a blue traveling suit. She was attended by her sister, Miss Rose Persson, of Dykeman. The best man was Mr. Will Trichler of Dykeman.

The happy couple left on the evening train for a visit in Duluth, the Twin Cities and other points and will be absent two weeks. Upon their return they will be given a reception at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Persson of Dykeman.

The bride has been chief operator at the Bismarck, N. D., exchange the past three years and is a sister of Miss Theresa Persson, chief operator of the Brainerd exchange of the Northwestern Telephone Exchange Co. The bridegroom has been connected with the North Dakota Independent Telephone Co. for some years and holds a responsible position with the company. The newlyweds will make their home in Fargo after Jan. 1.

Their many friends in Brainerd and vicinity wish them much happiness and prosperity.

BUYING FOR THE TABLE

George W. Perkins has achieved some political evolutions that were more fantastic and curious than logical and appealing, but he has made a great success in business and he has sound judgment in many things.

Just now he is giving his attention to domestic economy, and if there is anything this nation needs to have its best brains working on, it is that, says the Duluth Herald.

Though the statement that the reason for the high cost of living is the cost of high living doesn't tell the whole story, there is a great deal in it. A part of the high cost of living is due to the fact that the producers have to support the luxuries of a few beneficiaries of privilege. Another part of the high cost of living is due to the fact that so many who can't afford it feel that they must live just as well as those who have more money than anybody should have.

This country never has counted the pennies; never until lately has had to. In the era of free land and plenty of it, rich natural resources and plenty of them, the habit of extravagance grew until now it is hard to break. Yet it must be broken, and the American people will have to count pennies in the future much more than they have in the past.

However this may be, Mr. Perkins' name is signed—with those of others—to some suggestions about household purchasing that are sound and valuable. Here are a few of them:

In buying vegetables, select them yourself, and see that they are fresh. This is all important. There are tricks in all trades, including the vegetable trade.

You will find you will get more potatoes if you buy them by weight and not by measure.

Never buy sprouting potatoes. Serious illness has been known to follow their use.

In buying potatoes ask your dealer to cut one in half. Take the two halves and put them together; if they are juicy enough to stick together you have a good potato.

In buying cabbage be sure you get a hard, heavy head, with crisp, white leaves and with the stalk cut close to the head. Any large head of cabbage looks heavy, but on taking it in your hand you will find it is very light. A light-weight head of cabbage should only be bought at a reduced price.

In buying beets choose those with dirty roots and fresh, green leaves. This shows that they have not been soaked to freshen them.

In buying winter squash, choose one that has no soft spots. Choose a medium size one; the larger ones are very seedy.

In buying cauliflower choose a firm, white head with white leaves.

In buying onions be sure that they are firm and hard.

In buying celery choose a bunch with crisp white leaves. Use the outside pieces for soup and the inside pieces for the table.

Now there's good sense in that, and information that ought to be valuable to any family, rich or poor.

WILL COUNT NEXT YEAR

Legislature Will be Asked to Approve Fund to Finance Census Taking of the State

Minnesota will count noses next June. Early in the coming session of the legislature a bill will be introduced providing for taking a state census, according to the custom of counting the state's population midway between the federal censuses. Every 10 years since 1865 the state census has been taken, and it is practically certain that an act authorizing the 1915 census will be passed. According to custom it probably will be placed in the hands of the secretary of state.

The 1905 state census cost $65,000. It was handled by Peter E. Hanson, secretary of state, George F. Wright of Princeton having direct charge of the bureau. The enumeration started June 1, 1905, and was finished in one month, but the compilation took some three months longer. No account was taken of anything but population, sex, age, color, nativity, occupation, parentage and period of residence in the state and district. The census showed a population of 1,979,912, which was an increase of 228,518 in the five years following the federal census of 1900, or 13 per cent. The federal census of 1910 showed a population of 2,075,708, an increase of 95,796 in the five years following the state census.

Minneapolis' population by the state census of 1905 was 261,974, an increase of 59,258 in five years, and the federal census in 1910 made it 301,408, a five-year increase of 39,434.

WILL COUNT NEXT YEAR

Legislature Will be Asked to Approve Fund to Finance Census Taking of the State

Minnesota will count noses next June. Early in the coming session of the legislature a bill will be introduced providing for taking a state census, according to the custom of counting the state's population midway between the federal censuses. Every 10 years since 1865 the state census has been taken, and it is practically certain that an act authorizing the 1915 census will be passed. According to custom it probably will be placed in the hands of the secretary of state.

The 1905 state census cost $65,000. It was handled by Peter E. Hanson, secretary of state, George F. Wright of Princeton having direct charge of the bureau. The enumeration started June 1, 1905, and was finished in one month, but the compilation took some three months longer. No account was taken of anything but population, sex, age, color, nativity, occupation, parentage and period of residence in the state and district. The census showed a population of 1,979,912, which was an increase of 228,518 in the five years following the federal census of 1900, or 13 per cent. The federal census of 1910 showed a population of 2,075,708, an increase of 95,796 in the five years following the state census.

Minneapolis' population by the state census of 1905 was 261,974, an increase of 59,258 in five years, and the federal census in 1910 made it 301,408, a five-year increase of 39,434.

SOME housekeepers use ordinary laundry soap for washing dishes. At the same time they spend considerable money on lotions, creams, etc., in an effort, usually unsuccessful, to preserve their hands from the roughening effects of the soap.

Other housekeepers use nothing but Ivory Soap. Knowing that it cannot harm the tenderest skin, they deem its use a true economy. And then they have the satisfaction of knowing that their glassware, silver and china are scrupulously clean.

Which housekeepers are the wiser?

DISTINGUISHED VISITORS WELCOME

Brainerd welcomes with open hands the members of the Northern Minnesota Development Association, the Ladies Auxiliary and the Minnesota Crop Improvement Association, the advance guard of which organizations are arriving in the city today. This hearty welcome is also extended to the large number of visitors who will be attracted to the city during the deliberations of the convention, and it is hoped that all who come will receive that courteous treatment, that glad hand, which makes visitors at home and decidedly pleased to think that they had the opportunity of coming to our city. It is hoped that the aims and objects of the men who represent the great state of Minnesota at these gatherings and who have come here with the firm determination of advancing the interests of Northern Minnesota, will be realized. The brains and energy of the great area lying to the south of us and spreading to the confines of the state on the east and west and to the Canadian boundary on the north, are assembling in this city to advance the interests of Northern Minnesota with that spirit of progress so self evident today in all parts of the country, and to devise means of carrying on the work.

Brainerd bids the guests of every creed and faction a hearty welcome, and our citizens hope that those who gather here will take home with them only the kindest feelings, and that the deliberations will be productive of the great good that is sought by the meeting started at Bemidji four years ago, perfected at Crookston, brought into action at Brainerd in December, 1910, and now being continued by the loyal citizens of Northern Minnesota and elsewhere throughout the state. Brainerd is in hearty sympathy with the movement and appreciates the honor conferred of having been selected as the place for the first annual meeting four years ago and in having a second time been honored with the annual gathering.

DISEASE AND POVERTY

The normal person will not sink into poverty. Illness, disease, deformity and weak-mindedness are subnormal. David Starr Jordan says: "Strong men seek education and make opportunity," and to this might be added, "They bring things about; they make events occur." Weak men are the opposite of this, says Dr. J. N. Hurly in The Journal of the American Medical Association. Disease is itself not an evidence of physical or mental strength. Syphilis is a great cause of poverty, as it is also of insanity. "We were getting along splendidly," said the poverty-stricken woman, "until my husband took consumption." And who must be told of the great poverty that trails consumption? A farmer died of typhoid fever when the mortgage, given in part payment for his farm, was only one-half paid off. His wife and little daughter took the disease and survived only finally to fill fuller the slums of a city where she went with her child when the rich man foreclosed the mortgage. Yellow fever prevented the French from building the Panama canal, and thousands who had invested their all in canal shares were pauperized.

In Mexico there are thousands who have been made blind and pauperized by small-pox. There are at least two million blind beggars in China, all made blind by small-pox. It is only when epidemics come, when the greater proportion of lives are threatened, that we realize the meaning of sickness and disease. The ramifications of disease are so complex and far reaching we can have but a hazy idea of what disease means.

It is curious to note that, because of our stupidity, one's very industry may bring poverty. This is illustrated by the occupational diseases. Until very recently society permitted greed to force phossy jaw on workmen who afterward in many instances became paupers. To rear and protect industries, one product of which is poverty, is a queer condition. The prevention of phossy jaw will certainly also prevent all the poverty which might come from it. Cigar-makers, printers and tailors are especially afflicted with tuberculosis; and on the pauper records appear the names of hundreds who have followed these occupations. A proprietor who does not surround his employees with the best conditions of health is a breeder of disease, poverty and crime.

Feeble-mindedness is a disease condition and produces a world of poverty. There is no cure for feeble-mindedness; it may only be prevented; and there are only two rational methods for its prevention, neither of which society will adopt. And so it happens, as we "blunder on through love and hunger," that the highest services of medical science are rejected, prevention is disregarded and disease follows civilization with its ever lengthening train of degeneracy, defectiveness, delinquency and dependency.

HOW PARSONS FEELS

Thomas H. Parsons writes the editor of the Pillager Herald giving his views regarding the enforcement of the Indian treaty as follows:

I have been reading your editorial in last week's Herald on the enforcement of the Indian treaty of 1855, which calls to mind my prediction of over a month before election, that the enforcement orders would go forth immediately after election, as Commissioner Sells, being a strong prohibitionist, would enforce the provisions of the treaty regardless of the great loss it would cause 400,000 white people. But under the pressure of the leaders of the democratic party, fearing if made before election, he concluded to wait and the people of northern Minnesota were led to believe that the enforcement of the treaty might be modified, but I predicted it would not. Congress may abrogate the treaty or at least modify it, but the wave of prohibition now sweeping over the country will not allow them to do so for fear of the political effect such action would have on their constituents.

Votes are always considered of more value than the interests of any community and office seekers always consider being on the popular side of the fence, and I predict now that the treaty will not be abrogated or modified as congressmen representing northern Minnesota, who might favor such a measure are in the minority and even they be afraid to vote. There however can be no loss without some small gain and the general government must go to the expense of enforcing the law which will relieve the state of doing so and blind piglets will prosper if other people lose. I am an admirer of President Wilson, for his preservation of peace while other nations are at war, but the attitude of the democratic party enforcing that old treaty and causing such vast loss to 400,000 people under the pretext of protecting a handful of Indians is too much like monarchy for me and I return to the party of my youth, and hereafter, like many of my comrades, shall vote the way I shot in the Civil War.

HOW LONG WILL WAR LAST

That is a question that has been the subject of much speculation, and the various causes that tend to prolong or shorten this terrific contest have been considered from every point of view. An editorial in the special war issue of the Scientific American of November 7th raises an entirely new and very practical question by discussing the endurance of the machinery used in the war, rather than that of the men engaged. This article says in part:

This is very largely a machine-made war, and it would be a curious and not altogether illogical denouncement of the great struggle if its end should be hastened through the fatigue of the machine rather than the exhaustion of the man.

This war is being fought with the gun and the motor car; and so strenuous and uninterrupted has been the struggle that these have been put to a test of endurance the like of which has never been witnessed in the history of artillery or the brief but very strenuous history of the gasoline car.

The life of the gun, so far as its absolute destruction by bursting is concerned, is practically unlimited; but not so its accuracy-life. Every time a gun is fired some of the interior surface of its bore and delicate rifling is wiped away, and a certain degree of its accuracy is lost. This is true of the shoulder fire rifle, with its bore so small that it would not much more than admit a lead-pencil, no less than of the great 16-inch siege gun of the Germans. Fortunately for the infantryman, the wearing out of the bore decreases rapidly with a decrease in the size of the

WAR TAXES HIGH LIVERS

Democratic War Revenue Measure Reaches Out Over a Very Large Variety of Products

"High Livers" will bear the heaviest burden imposed by Uncle Sam's emergency war tax on various commodities, as shown by a detailed list of the taxes received here.

Most prominent in the list are taxes on liquors, wines and other exhilarators, cigars, cigarettes and other tobacco products, playing cards, theatres, circuses, gaming tables, bowling alleys, pawnbrokers and opium. Additional taxes on these luxuries and increases in present taxes on them insure that the man-about-town and his apostles will have an expensive time of it.

But Uncle Sam is foxy and has anticipated that many revelers will run to cover under the simple life to reduce expenses and has seen to it that the economical man has to pay his share. To this end such taxes appear as those on oleomargarine, adulterated butter and the cheese so dear to the plain people. Snuff, than which nothing is more democratic and unpretentious, also is taxed. Each $1 jar of cheyung gum is taxed 4 cents.

Under the head of special taxes wholesale liquor dealers are taxed $100 a year. Retail liquor dealers must pay a tax of $25 annually. Brewers with an annual output of less than 500 barrels are taxed $50 a year and those who are above this limit must pay $100. Distilled spirits are taxed $1.10 a gallon and wines all the way from $1.50 per gallon for the bona fide fermented article to 10 cents a pint for imitation.

Dealers in leaf tobacco are taxed from $6 to $24 a year, depending on the volume of sale. Dealers in cigars, cigarettes, manufactured tobacco and snuff must pay $4.80 a year. Manufacturers of tobacco are taxed from $6 to $24.96 a year, depending on the amounts of sales. Manufacturers of cigars must pay from $12 to $24.86.

Tobacco, however manufactured, is

CRACOW BESIEGED BY THE RUSSIANS

Special to The Dispatch:—

London, Nov. 30 11:40 A. M.—The siege of Cracow has begun, according to a newspaper correspondent with the Russian army. He reports the Muscovites bombarding the forts with heavy siege guns and that one of the suburb cities is in flames.

The fighting in the western area is confined to operations in Argonne and intermittent artillery fire at other points. The French report the Germans on the defensive in Belgium and claim slight progress near Fay.

BRITISH WARSHIPS PATROLLING ATLANTIC

Special to The Dispatch:—

New York, Nov. 30, 3 P. M.—At least twelve British warships are patrolling the Atlantic between New York and the Panama Canal, sweeping the seas with their wireless, crowding ordinary commercial radios from the air and keeping a close check on all forms of shipping.

WITHDRAWAL OF GERMANS EVIDENT

Special to Dispatch:

Paris, Nov. 30, 11:40 A. M.—The Allied lines are now being advanced south of Ypres. It is declared here today that a gradual withdrawal of the Germans is evident. The British and French troops are pressing forward and occupying the abandoned trenches.

subject to a tax of 8 cents a pound and snuff the same. Cigars weighing more than three pounds per 1,000 are subject to a tax of $3 a thousand. Cigarettes weighing more than three pounds per 1,000 are taxed $3.60 a thousand.

Playing cards are taxed 2 cents a pack with the joker wild, or otherwise. Theatre proprietors must pay all the way from $25 to $100 yearly tax, depending on the capacity of their places. Circus proprietors pay $100 a year flat. Bowling alleys and billiard hall operators are subject to an annual tax of $5.

Pawnbrokers will charge the waste full man more for "soaking" his valuables for ready cash because the broker must pay the government $50 annually.

The opium habit will be expensive inasmuch as this dream producer is taxed $30 a pound.

Getting back to the economical man his oleo is taxed 10 cents a pound. The tax is less with oleo margarine that it not colored to resemble real butter. Adulterated butter is taxed 10 cents a pound. Cheese is assessed at 1 cent a pound with 8 cents for the imported article. Manufacturers of cheese pay $400 a year and cheese wholesalers $250. Retail dealers in cheese pay $400 a year and Oleo manufacturers are taxed $600 a year, wholesalers $480 and retail dealers in this product $49.

Incomes are taxed from 1 per cent for those between $20,000 and $50,000 to 6 per cent for those more than $500,000.

The list also shows taxes on bonds stock certificates, agreements of sale promissory notes, contracts, deeds and conveyances, insurance policies, steamship tickets, powers of attorney, telephone and telegraph messages and seats in parlor, palace or sleeping cars. Perfumery and cosmetics also are subject to government tax.

Commission Is Not Appointed to Deal With Existing Differences Which Have Caused Much Rioting and Bloodshed—Will Be at the Service Alike of Operators and Workmen.

Washington, Nov. 30.—President Wilson announced the appointment of Seth Low, New York; Charles W. Mills, Philadelphia, and Patrick Gilday of Clearfield, Pa., as a commission through which future differences between operators and miners involved in the present Colorado coal strike may be settled.

The commission, officials explained, was not appointed to deal with the existing differences which have caused rioting and bloodshed in Colorado. Hywel Davies and W. R. Fairlay, the conciliators who have been attempting to settle the strike for several months, will continue their efforts to have the operators and miners agree on a settlement of the present strike.

The appointment of such a commission was contemplated in the plan for temporary settlement of the strike which the president proposed several months ago and which was accepted by the miners, but rejected by the operators. One of the chief objections of the operators to the plan was the naming of the commission.

Obvious Way to Peace.

The president announced in his statement that the commission will place themselves "at the service alike of the miners and the operators of the mines of Colorado in case controversy between them should in the future develop circumstances which would render mediation the obvious way of peace and just settlement."

Mr. Wilson added that "merely to withdraw the federal troops and leave the situation to clear and settle itself would seem to me to be doing something less than my duty after all that has occurred." He has been asked by Governor Ammons of Colorado to withdraw the troops from some of the districts and will discuss the question with Secretary Garrison of the war department this week.

The original basis of agreement offered by the president included the establishment of a three-year truce, subject to the enforcement of the mining and labor laws of Colorado; the return to work of miners who had not been convicted of law violations; the prohibition of intimidation of union or nonunion men; and the appointment of a grievance committee by the employees.

It provided that in cases where the officers of the company and the grievance committees could not settle differences a commission of three men named by the president should step in and act as the final referee of all disputes.

bore. Erosion, as it is called by the artillerymen, is greatest in the large guns and least in the 0.30 rifle. The big guns which form the main batteries of our warships and are emplaced in our coast fortifications can fire from 150 to 250 rounds (depending upon the pressure and heat in the powder chamber) before they begin to lose their accuracy.

The motor car is a highly developed machine, which calls for careful upkeep to maintain it in full efficiency. In ordinary commercial service the motor car and the automobile receive, as a rule, considerable care and watchful maintenance. In the present war, however, the treatment of these vehicles, must, in the nature of things, be absolutely brutal, and the depreciation must be very rapid. Where are the repair shops that can keep pace with this depreciation, and how shall the necessarily enormous wastage of the war be made good?

It may well be felt that the fatigue of the machine rather than the weariness of the man will hasten the close of the present war.

Origin of the Opera.
In one sense the opera is one of the oldest forms of entertainment, for its origin is to be found in the old Greek drama. In its modern sense, however, it dates from the year 1600, when Peri produced the first true Italian opera to grace the festivities of the marriage of Henry IV. of France and Marie de' Medici. The work attracted great attention, and many Italian nobles figured in the cast. In France the opera was the outcome of the ballet and in England of the masque. Purcell is entitled to the honor of producing the first real English opera, although one of Ben Jonson's masques was set to music as early as 1617.

Hilly Greece.

Greece is extremely mountainous, the only plain region worthy of the name being found in Thessaly. In this province is a large quantity of undeveloped water power, furnished by torrents which sweep through the plains in the rainy season, doing great damage, their course for the remainder of the year being marked by dry ravines.

WAR TAXES HIGH LIVERS

Democratic War Revenue Measure Reaches Out Over a Very Large Variety of Products

"High Livers" will bear the heaviest burden imposed by Uncle Sam's emergency war tax on various commodities, as shown by a detailed list of the taxes received here.

Most prominent in the list are taxes on liquors, wines and other exhilarators, cigars, cigarettes and other tobacco products, playing cards, theatres, circuses, gaming tables, bowling alleys, pawnbrokers and opium. Additional taxes on these luxuries and increases in present taxes on them insure that the man-about-town and his apostles will have an expensive time of it.

But Uncle Sam is foxy and has anticipated that many revelers will run to cover under the simple life to reduce expenses and has seen to it that the economical man has to pay his share. To this end such taxes appear as those on oleomargarine, adulterated butter and the cheese so dear to the plain people. Snuff, than which nothing is more democratic and unpretentious, also is taxed. Each 1/2 jar of chewing gum is taxed 4 cents.

Under the head of special taxes wholesale liquor dealers are taxed $100 a year. Retail liquor dealers must pay a tax of $25 annually. Brewers with an annual output of less than 500 barrels are taxed $50 a year and those who are above this limit must pay $100. Distilled spirits are taxed $1.10 a gallon and wines all the way from $1.50 per gallon for the bona fide fermented article to 10 cents a pint for imitation.

Dealers in leaf tobacco are taxed from $6 to $24 a year, depending on the volume of sale. Dealers in cigars, cigarettes, manufactured tobacco and snuff must pay $4.80 a year. Manufacturers of tobacco are taxed from $6 to $2,496 a year, depending on the amounts of sales. Manufacturers of cigars must pay from $12 to $2,486.

Tobacco, however manufactured, is

CRACOW BESIEGED BY THE RUSSIANS

Special to The Dispatch:—

London, Nov. 30 11:40 A. M.—The siege of Cracow has begun, according to a newspaper correspondent with the Russian army. He reports the Muscovites bombarding the forts with heavy siege guns and that one of the suburb cities is in flames.

The fighting in the western area is confined to operations in Argonne and intermittent artillery fire at other points. The French report the Germans on the defensive in Belgium and claim slight progress near Fay.

BRITISH WARSHIPS PATROLLING ATLANTIC

Special to The Dispatch:—

New York, Nov. 30, 3 P. M.—At least twelve British warships are patrolling the Atlantic between New York and the Panama Canal, sweeping the seas with their wireless, crowding ordinary commercial radios from the air and keeping a close check on all forms of shipping.

WITHDRAWAL OF GERMANS EVIDENT

Special to Dispatch:

Paris, Nov. 30, 11:40 A. M.—The Allied lines are now being advanced south of Ypres. It is declared here today that a gradual withdrawal of the Germans is evident. The British and French troops are pressing forward and occupying the abandoned trenches.

subject to a tax of 8 cents a pound and snuff the same. Cigars weighing more than three pounds per 1,000 are subject to a tax of $3 a thousand. Cigarettes weighing more than three pounds per 1,000 are taxed $3.60 a thousand.

Playing cards are taxed 2 cents a pack with the joker wild, or otherwise. Theatre proprietors must pay all the way from $25 to $100 yearly tax, depending on the capacity of their places. Circus proprietors pay $100 a year flat. Bowling alleys and billiard hall operators are subject to an annual tax of $5.

Pawnbrokers will charge the waste ful man more for "soaking" his valuables for ready cash because the broker must pay the government $50 annually.

The opium habit will be expensive inasmuch as this dream producer is taxed $30 a pound.

Getting back to the economical man his oleo is taxed 10 cents a pound. The tax is less with oleo margarine that it not colored to resemble real butter. Adulterated butter is taxed 10 cents a pound. Cheese is assessed at 1 cent a pound with 8 cents for the imported article. Manufacturers of cheese pay $400 a year and cheese wholesalers $250. Retail dealers in cheese pay $400 a year and Oleo manufacturers are taxed $600 a year, wholesalers $480 and retail dealers in this product $49.

Incomes are taxed from 1 per cent for those between $20,000 and $50,000 to 6 per cent for those more than $500,000.

The list also shows taxes on bonds stock certificates, agreements of sale promissory notes, contracts, deeds and conveyances, insurance policies, steamship tickets, powers of attorney, telephone and telegraph messages and seats in parlor, palace or sleeping cars. Perfumery and cosmetics also are subject to government tax.

WILSON NAMES THREE UMPIRES

Will Try and Adjust Mining Disputes in Colorado.

ONLY FUTURE CONTROVERSIES

Commission Is Not Appointed to Deal With Existing Differences Which Have Caused Much Rioting and Bloodshed—Will Be at the Service Alike of Operators and Workmen.

Washington, Nov. 30.—President Wilson announced the appointment of Seth Low, New York; Charles W. Mills, Philadelphia, and Patrick Gill-day of Clearfield, Pa., as a commission through which future differences between operators and miners involved in the present Colorado coal strike may be settled.

The commission, officials explained, was not appointed to deal with the existing differences which have caused rioting and bloodshed in Colorado. Hywel Davies and W. R. Fairlay, the conciliators who have been attempting to settle the strike for several months, will continue their efforts to have the operators and miners agree on a settlement of the present strike. The appointment of such a commission was contemplated in the plan for temporary settlement of the strike which the president proposed several months ago and which was accepted by the miners, but rejected by the operators. One of the chief objections of the operators to the plan was the naming of the commission.

Obvious Way to Peace.
The president announced in his statement that the commission will place themselves "at the service alike of the miners and the operators of the mines of Colorado in case controversy between them should in the future develop circumstances which would render mediation the obvious way of peace and just settlement."

Mr. Wilson added that "merely to withdraw the federal troops and leave the situation to clear and settle itself would seem to me to be doing something less than my duty after all that has occurred." He has been asked by Governor Ammons of Colorado to withdraw the troops from some of the districts and will discuss the question with Secretary Garrison of the war department this week.

The original basis of agreement offered by the president included the establishment of a three-year truce, subject to the enforcement of the mining and labor laws of Colorado; the return to work of miners who had not been convicted of law violations; the prohibition of intimidation of union or nonunion men; and the appointment of a grievance committee by the employees.

It provided that in cases where the officers of the company and the grievance committees could not settle differences a commission of three men named by the president should step in and act as the final referee of all disputes.

DULUTH PEOPLE WILL ATTEND

St. Louis County Farms Will be Exploited at Brainerd Meeting of Development Association

TRADE EXTENSION COMMITTEE

Arranging for Party Representing Duluth's Interests Which Will Visit City This Week

St. Louis county will be well represented in the agricultural exhibition to be held in connection with the joint meeting of the Northern Minnesota Development association and the Minnesota Crop Improvement association at Brainerd this week. The meeting will open Tuesday and close Friday, the first two days being devoted to the Crop Improvement association and the last two days to the Development association. The Tribune of that city says:

A. B. Hostetter, district supervisor of agriculture, and H. A. Larsen, St. Louis county agent, who were delegated by the agricultural committee of the Duluth Commercial club to prepare the exhibit, have completed their plans. Naturally the St. Louis county products to be shown are the staples, potatoes and grasses. The potato exhibit will be particularly complete and attractive and should stand high in competition.

The varieties of potatoes and the producers in whose name they will be entered are: Rural New Yorker, Carl Johnson, Cook; Early Ohio, John Olson, Cook; Carmen, P. C. Nelson, McGrath; Triumph, P. C. Nelson, Clyde, Beauty of Hebron, H. V. Eva, Duluth; Irish Cobbler, McKinley, Norton Beauty, Louis Christianson, Greyson; Carmen, Norton Beauty, Triumph, Chicago Market, C. Melby, county farm; Blue Victor, O. S. Ingelbo, Duluth; McKinley, Thaddeus Grout, Jean du Luth farm; Norton Beauty, from Duluth exposition exhibits.

In addition, Mr. Hostetter has arranged to show from the Commercial club exposition stock samples of medium red clover, alsike clover and alfalfa hay. Louis Anderson of Pike lake will show a bale of clover hay also.

Mr. Hostetter and Mr. Larsen will go to Brainerd Sunday evening and will have the St. Louis county exhibits on display when the meeting opens Tuesday morning.

Duluth people will attend the meeting in numbers Thursday and Friday, the two days devoted to the Northern Minnesota Development association. Some of the delegates will go to Brainerd Wednesday evening in order to attend the opening session Thursday morning, and the main party will leave Thursday morning at 10 a. m. on the Northern Pacific, arriving at Brainerd at 1 o'clock in the afternoon. Some will return Thursday evening, and the others will stay for the last day's sessions.

Chairman Frank X. Gravel of the trade extension committee of the Commercial club, has taken charge of the work of organizing a party representing Duluth business interests to go to Brainerd Thursday. Duluth has always taken an active interest in the Development association, and business men and agricultural enthusiasts of the city will join to make the coming meeting a successful one.

Two Duluth speakers are on the program. M. J. Thompson, superintendent of the Northeastern Experiment station, will speak on "Crop Improvement an Opportunity in Northern Minnesota," and C. P. Craig, chairman of the state efficiency and economy commission will speak on the work of that body.

RESOLUTIONS

Whereas, Dr. James L. Camp of Brainerd has been claimed by death; And, whereas, he had enjoyed the well deserved confidence of the people of Minnesota and the medical profession on account of his judgment and skill in his professional work and the integrity and uprightness of his character;

And, whereas, he has been an active and valuable member of the Advisory Commission of the Minnesota State Sanatorium for Consumptives since it was created in 1901;

And, whereas, we, his fellow members upon said Commission desire to express our appreciation of his valuable and self sacrificing labors in the interests of humanity;

Now therefore be it resolved that we are keenly sensible of the great loss that both the Community and this Commission has suffered in his death;

And further, be it resolved that a copy of these resolutions be furnished to the press and also forwarded to his bereaved relatives.

Upper Floors of Iron Exchange Hive of Industry With Many Pleasing Exhibits

THE COMMUNITY EXHIBIT

Everything in Shape to Entertain the Hundreds of Visitors Who Are Expected to Arrive

The Iron Exchange building is certainly a hive of industry today and the arrangements are going ahead in final preparation to receive the crowds that are expected in attendance at the Minnesota Crop Improvement association meeting which convenes here this week. The Chamber of Commerce is a popular meeting place for those who have the arrangements in hand and Secretary Hansing is busy with the details of the conventions. The business sessions of the conventions will be held at the opera house, while the exhibits of the Crop Improvement Association will be staged on the upper floors of the Iron Exchange.

In the room formerly occupied by the Knights of Columbus the corn and potato exhibit is being placed in position. The racks arranged for holding the corn will accommodate more than 5,000 ears, and it will be so placed that each variety will be an exhibit of its own. The potato exhibit will be arranged in boxes around the wall and will be one of the attractive points of interest as Minnesota, and especially this section, is much interested in the raising of tubers. In the hall on the third floor of the building will be two tables at which all delegates and visitors will be expected to register, and there will also be a registration table in the Chamber of Commerce for that purpose. At these tables at the time of registration tickets for the entertainment at the opera house on Tuesday night will be given out, as will also the badges. The entertainment will consist of vaudeville and moving pictures, in addition to other interesting features.

In the room facing Sixth and Laurel streets on the same floor will be the exhibit in charge of Mrs. Margaret Baker, of the woman's extension division of the U. of M. Miss Josephine Schain of Minneapolis, will also be in attendance. The boys and girls state exhibit will be at the west end of this room and on the east will be the fancy work in attractive display. Mrs. Baker and Miss Schain will lecture on different subjects during the convention, and seats will be provided the ladies who will be interested in this feature. On the south of the room on a raised platform will be the community exhibit, and it will consist of a church, farmhouse, school, creamery, laundry and barn. These will be arranged with a road running through the center and the community and its requirements will be fully explained.

All the other arrangements are being completed for the opening tomorrow. An effort is being made to have the band meet the trains as the visitors arrive and the public spirit of that organization should prompt them in this matter.

The large electric sign will be placed in position this afternoon and is being hung from the Ransford hotel corner to the First National bank. Large signs and banners are being placed on the opera house, and at the Chamber of Commerce a large "Welcome" sign will be displayed.

The people of Brainerd and especially the committee of 100 who have been designated and to whom badges are being distributed today should make it their business to mingle with the visitors as much as possible, extend the glad hand and be ready with information that may be asked. Brainerd's well known hospitality should not be allowed to lag on this occasion.

Put up your hammer and get out your horn.

Be a booster and help advertise the town and its prospects.

OLDER BOYS' CONFERENCE

Crow Wing County Association Has Convention in City and Adopts Resolutions

FIRST COUNTY ORGANIZATION

Splendid Addresses By Dr. R. W. Bowden, Banquet Served at 7th St. Lutheran Church

The Crow Wing County Older Boys' Conference, in session at the Seventh street Norwegian Lutheran church, completed a most profitable convention and were also, by the way, the first county organization to take such steps.

The resolutions adopted are printed in full:

"Be it resolved, that we as the Crow Wing County Older Boys' Conference held at Brainerd, extend a vote of thanks to the Seventh street Norwegian Lutheran church for the use of their building for the conference.

"Be it further resolved that we extend a vote of thanks to the ladies of the various churches who so willingly assisted in making the banquet a success.

"Be it further resolved that we extend a vote of thanks to Dr. R. W. Bowden for his kind services during this conference.

"Be it further resolved that we extend a vote of thanks to the Y. M. C. A. for their generosity donating the building to our use.

"Be it further resolved that we favor the adoption of having two teen age classes in each Sunday school, one for boys from 13 to 16 and one for boys from 16 to 21. We also favor a regular annual promotion from the lower to the higher.

"Be it further resolved that each boy here now at the next Crow Wing County Conference bring another fellow with him.

The election resulted in the reelection of all officers, these being President Ingolf Dillan, vice president Orville Merwin, secretary Axel Anderson, treasurer Robert Zabel.

The committees having in charge the conference program included these: on program Orville Merwin, Henry Elvig, Percy Carbine; athletic Robert Zabel, Harry Cregar, and Paul Sapp; banquet Arthur Thon, Edwin Bacon and Axel Anderson; entertainment Roy Reis, Stanley Durham and Lorry Burrell; registration Arthur Lyndon and Rudolph Johnson.

The boys present included John Olson, Lorry Burrell, Roy Reis, Leonard Anderson, Arthur Anderson, Robert Zabel, Edwin Ralph, Orville Merwin, Harry Cregar, Axel Anderson, Martin Roslund, Ed Bacon, Martin Duhum, Wm. Evans, Quinn Blackburn, Lloyd Taylor, Arthur Lyndon, Ernest Lind, Thomas Johnson, Walter Thabes, Harold Whitlock, Alfred Thompson, Arthur Thon, John Downie, Maurice Everest, Walter Moxie, Arnold Anderson, Gormand Nelson, S. Nichols, Doyl Kreak, John Sundberg, Arthur Peterson, Roy Swanson, Alfred Dillon, Ralph Falconer, Russel Whitlock, Ira Overly, Leon Wadsworth, Otis Skauge, Harold Erickson, Algot Anderson, Egonie Zakariassen, Harry Sandberg, Rudolph Johnson, Ingolf Dillan, Fred Molgren,

They were all present at the evening banquet, the guests being Dr. R. W. Bowden, Minnesota State Secretary Division Superintendent; Dr. Joseph Nicholson, president of the Crow Wing County Sunday Schools association; George Tracy, Crow Wing County Secretary Division Superintendent, and John A. Hoffbauer.

The women of the various churches having charge of the banquet included Mrs. Albert Angel, Mrs. L. W. Thabes, Mrs. Sarah Robinson, Mrs. Anton Gilbertson, Mrs. Anna Saltee, Mrs. E. H. Green, Mrs. George W. Hess, Mrs. K. S. Bredenberg and Mrs. Clarence Gustafson. Assisting them in serving were these girls, Miss Julia Wilson, Miss Ellen Rosenberg, Miss Lillie Gilbertson, Miss Irene Brockway, Miss Florence Simmons, Miss Bessie Bredenberg, Miss Elsa Peterson, Miss Gladys Hess, Miss Agnes Swanson, Miss Ruby Cain, Miss Ruth Caldwell, Miss Hildegard Olson, Miss Venice Holst, of this city and Miss Naomi Nelson, of Minneapolis.

Papers were read in the afternoon by Roy Reis on "The Organized Class," "Why do not Older Boys Attend Sunday School?" by Harry Cregar, "Social Side of a Class" by Arthur Thon and "Service" by Ingolf Dillan. Discussions were led by Axel Anderson, Percy Carbine, Edwin Bacon and Robert Zabel.

In the evening President Ingolf Dillan presided. He spoke on the Geneva conference. Orville Merwin also spoke. Dr. Joseph Nicholson delivered an address. Dr. R. W. Bowden gave his lecture on "The Circle of Brotherhood."

He said that this county was the first to form a county organization. People first thought in terms of the church, then in communities and now counties. His project was to have from each Sunday school in the county conference a man and two boys, elected by each Sunday school council. Steps should be taken to see that each school was organized, to invite every boy of teen age to attend school. Purity, temperance and missions should be encouraged.

"He was sure other counties would follow Crow Wing county's leadership and also form county organizations.

PRAISES JUDGE HALE

St. Cloud Journal Press in Editorial Refers to his Selection as Member State Tax Commission

The selection of Judge James T. Hale as a member of the State Tax Commission is being most favorably received. In an editorial the St. Cloud Journal Press says:

"Gov. Eberhart made a good selection when he named Judge Hale as successor to the late O. M. Hall as member of the state tax commission. Judge Hale is one of the able and efficient men of the state, and it has only been his modesty that has kept him from the public gaze long ago. Mr. Hall was one of the strong men of the southern part of the state, and his death will be sincerely regretted."

The Northern Pacific has always taken a great interest in the meetings of the development associations and they are anxious to do anything that will contribute to the success of the Brainerd meeting. The personnel of the party will be announced tomorrow.

MUSIC AND DRAMA

At the Grand

"Trey O'Hearts" tonight and Tuesday. The twelfth story of this is more than a wonderful serial. The action continues without a break from last week. This play is gradually but surely becoming the most interesting photo ever produced. Everyone is held at the outcome of Rose, Judith and Allan. The same packed house for every run.

Ford Sterling, the always drawer, in "The Battle." As has been said, "Isn't there a double-distilled scream, a triple-plated mirth-convulsion, the quintessence of serene laughter in the sublime spectacle of a child who is naturally, unwittingly funny?" Surely. But a child has to be born to it—and there are but a few of them. Little Billy Jacobs, of the Sterling-Universal company, is one of them.

This comedy, played by children, is in two reels. And you roar. You can't help it.

Our personally selected bookings for December by the representative of the Grand in Minneapolis, are more than exceptional.

At the Columbia

A splendid house and a splendid show tells briefly the story of this popular theatre last night. "Bootles Baby" perhaps deserves special mention for its artistic completeness in every detail. Sidney Drew also appeared to good advantage in a one act play remarkably in keeping with this artists most desirable style of acting.

The entire performance, including music, will again be given tonight. Tomorrow will be the great day with pictures, 2 acts of local vaudeville and an orchestra. Next Saturday afternoon there will be held for the first time in this city a complete show for the children. The "ideal show" for children it might be termed. Of course parents are especially invited to also attend. The proceeds to go to charity.

At Park Theatre

There is novelty and newness about "The Call of the Cumberland," the dramatized version of Charles Neill Buck's famous book put into playing form by Hugo B. Koch and presented for the first time in Brainerd at the Park theatre on Wednesday, Dec. 2. The earlier scenes of the play are laid in the heart of the Cumberland Mountains and lead us into the home life of a people far different in every way from any other on this continent. Among those crude, ignorant, and unlettered mountain folks, education is looked upon as an effeminate weakness and something that is more of a detriment to a man than an asset. It is true that the vendetta, the family feud, is carried out from generation to generation, and in this part of the Cumberland, within a short distance of the highest civilization that this country can offer, exists the deepest primeval darkness and ignorance that it is possible to imagine. The scenic production is complete in every detail and leaves nothing to be desired as the producers, Messrs. Gaskill & MacVitty, have made it their aim to make "The Call of the Cumberland" one of their most elaborate undertakings.

Larsen, St. Louis county agent, who were delegated by the agricultural committee of the Duluth Commercial club to prepare the exhibit, have completed their plans. Naturally the St. Louis county products to be shown are the staples, potatoes and grasses. The potato exhibit will be particularly complete and attractive and should stand high in competition.

The varieties of potatoes and the producers in whose name they will be entered are: Rural New Yorker, Carl Johnson, Cook; Early Gato, John Olson, Cook; Carmen, P. C. Nelson, Melby; Triumph, Early Ohio, Clyde, Beauty of Hebron, H. V. Eva, Duluth; Irish Cobbler, McKinley, Norton Beauty, Louis Christianson, Greyson; Carmen, Norton Beauty, Triumph, Chicago Market, C. Melby, county farm; Blue Victor, O. S. Ingelbo, Duluth; McKinley, Thaddeus Grout, Jean du Luth farm; Norton Beauty, from Duluth exposition exhibits.

In addition, Mr. Hostetter has arranged to show from the Commercial club exposition stock samples of medium red clover, alsike clover and alfalfa hay. Louis Anderson of Pike lake will show a bale of clover hay also.

Mr. Hostetter and Mr. Larsen will go to Brainerd Sunday evening and will have the St. Louis county exhibits on display when the meeting opens Tuesday morning.

Duluth people will attend the meeting in numbers Thursday and Friday, the two days devoted to the Northern Minnesota Development association. Some of the delegates will go to Brainerd Wednesday evening in order to attend the opening session Thursday morning, and the main party will leave Thursday morning at 10 a. m. on the Northern Pacific, arriving at Brainerd at 1 o'clock in the afternoon. Some will return Thursday evening, and the others will stay for the last day's sessions.

Chairman Frank X. Gravel of the trade extension committee of the Commercial club, has taken charge of the work of organizing a party representing Duluth business interests to go to Brainerd Thursday. Duluth has always taken an active interest in the Development association, and business men and agricultural enthusiasts of the city will join to make the coming meeting a successful one.

Two Duluth speakers are on the program. M. J. Thompson, superintendent of the Northeastern Experiment station, will speak on "Crop Improvement an Opportunity in Northern Minnesota," and C. P. Craig, chairman of the state efficiency and economy commission will speak on the work of that body.

RESOLUTIONS

Whereas, Dr. James L. Camp of Brainerd has been claimed by death; And, whereas, he had enjoyed the well deserved confidence of the people of Minnesota and the medical profession on account of his judgment and skill in his professional work and the integrity and uprightness of his character;

And, whereas, he has been an active and valuable member of the Advisory Commission of the Minnesota State Sanatorium for Consumptives since it was created in 1901;

And, whereas, we, his fellow members upon said Commission desire to express our appreciation of his valuable and self sacrificing labors in the interests of humanity;

Now therefore be it resolved that we are keenly sensible of the great loss that both the Community and this Commission has suffered in his death;

And further, be it resolved that a copy of these resolutions be furnished to the press and also forwarded to his bereaved relatives.

ROBINSON BOSWORTH,
Executive Secretary.

EXHIBITS ARE INTERESTING

Upper Floors of Iron Exchange Hive of Industry With Many Pleasing Exhibits

THE COMMUNITY EXHIBIT

Everything in Shape to Entertain the Hundreds of Visitors Who Are Expected to Arrive

The Iron Exchange building is certainly a hive of industry today and the arrangements are going ahead in final preparation to receive the crowds that are expected in attendance at the Minnesota Crop Improvement Association meeting which opens Tuesday morning and the Northern Minnesota Development Association meeting which convenes here this week. The Chamber of Commerce is a popular meeting place for those who have the arrangements in hand and Secretary Hansing is busy with the details of the conventions. The business sessions of the conventions will be held at the opera house, while the exhibits of the Crop Improvement Association will be staged on the upper floors of the Iron Exchange.

In the room formerly occupied by the Knights of Columbus the corn and potato exhibit is being placed in position. The racks arranged for holding the corn will accommodate more than 5,000 ears, and it will be so placed that each variety will be an exhibit of its own. The potato exhibit will be arranged in boxes around the wall and will be one of the attractive points of interest as Minnesota, and especially this section, is much interested in the raising of tubers. In the hall on the third floor of the building will be two tables at which all delegates and visitors will be expected to register, and there will also be a registration table in the Chamber of Commerce for that purpose. At these tables at the time of registration tickets for the entertainment at the opera house on Tuesday night will be given out, as will also the badges. The entertainment will consist of vaudeville and moving pictures, in addition to other interesting features.

In the room facing Sixth and Laurel streets on the same floor will be the exhibit in charge of Mrs. Margaret Baker, of the woman's extension division of the U. of M. Miss Josephine Schain of Minneapolis, will also be in attendance. The boys and girls state exhibit will be at the west end of this room and on the east will be the fancy work in attractive display. Mrs. Baker and Miss Schain will lecture on different subjects during the convention, and seats will be provided the ladies who will be interested in this feature. On the south of the room on a raised platform will be the community exhibit, and it will consist of a church, farmhouse, school, creamery, laundry and barn. These will be arranged with a road running through the center and the community and its requirements will be fully explained.

All the other arrangements are being completed for the opening tomorrow. An effort is being made to have the band meet the trains as the visitors arrive and the public spirit of that organization should prompt them in this matter.

The large electric sign will be placed in position this afternoon and be being hung from the Ransford hotel corner to the First National bank. Large signs and banners are being placed on the opera house, and at the Chamber of Commerce a large "Welcome" sign will be displayed.

The people of Brainerd and especially the committee of 100 who have been designated and to whom badges are being distributed today should make it their business to mingle with the visitors as much as possible, extend the glad hand and be ready with information that may be asked. Brainerd's well known hospitality should not be allowed to lag on this occasion.

Put up your hammer and get out your horn.

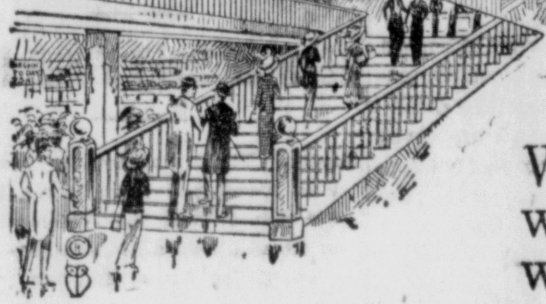

Be a booster and help advertise the town and its prospects.

OLDER BOYS' CONFERENCE

Crow Wing County Association Has Convention in City and Adopts Resolutions

FIRST COUNTY ORGANIZATION

Splendid Addresses By Dr. R. W. Bowden, Banquet Served at 7th St. Lutheran Church

The Crow Wing County Older Boys Conference, in session at the Seventh street Norwegian Lutheran church, completed a most profitable convention and were also, by the way, the first county organization to take such steps.

The resolutions adopted are printed in full:

"Be it resolved, that we as the Crow Wing County Older Boys Conference held at Brainerd, extend a vote of thanks to the Seventh Street Norwegian Lutheran church for the use of their building for the conference.

"Be it further resolved that we extend a vote of thanks to the ladies of the various churches who so willingly assisted in making the banquet a success.

"Be it further resolved that we extend a vote of thanks to Dr. R. W. Bowden for his kind services during this conference.

"Be it further resolved that we extend a vote of thanks to the Y. M. C. A. for their generosity donating the building to our use.

"Be it further resolved that we favor the adoption of having two teen age classes in each Sunday school, one for boys from 13 to 16 and one for boys from 16 to 21. We also favor a regular annual promotion from the lower to the higher.

"Be it further resolved that each boy here now at the next Crow Wing County Conference bring another fellow with him.

The election resulted in the reelection of all officers, these being President Ingolf Dillan, vice president Orville Merwin, secretary Axel Anderson, treasurer Robert Zabel.

The committees having in charge the conference program included these: on program Orville Merwin, Henry Elvig, Percy Carbine; athletic Robert Zabel, Harry Cregar, and Paul Sapp; banquet Arthur Thon, Edwin Bacon and Axel Anderson; entertainment Roy Reis, Stanley Durham and Lorry Burrell; registration Arthur Lyddon and Rudolph Johnson.

The boys present included John Olson, Lorry Burrell, Roy Reis, Leonard Anderson, Arthur Anderson, Robert Zabel, Edwin Ralph, Orville Merwin, Harry Cregar, Axel Anderson, Martin Roslund, Ed Bacon, Martin Duhlum, Wm. Evans, Quinn Blackburn, Lloyd Taylor, Arthur Lyddon, Ernest Lind, Thomas Johnson, Walter Thabes, Harold Whitlock, Alfred Thompson, Arthur Thon, John Downie, Maurice Everest, Walter Moxie, Arnold Anderson, Gorman Nelson, S. Nichols, Doyle Kreak, John Sundberg, Arthur Peterson, Roy Swanson, Alfred Dillon, Ralph Falconer, Russel Whitlock, Ira Overly, Leon Wadsworth, Otis Skauge, Harold Erickson, Algot Anderson, Bennie Zakariasen, Harry Sandberg, Rudolph Johnson, Ingolf Dillan, Fred Molgren,

They were all present at the evening banquet, the guests being Dr. R. W. Bowden, Minnesota State Secretary Division Superintendent; Dr. Joseph Nicholson, president of the Crow Wing County Sunday Schools association; George Tracy, Crow Wing County Secretary Division Superintendent, and John A. Hoffbauer.

The women of the various churches having charge of the banquet included Mrs. Albert Angel, Mrs. L. W. Thabes, Mrs. Sarah Robinson, Mrs. Anton Gilbertson, Mrs. Anna Salter, Mrs. E. H. Green, Mrs. George W. Hess, Mrs. K. S. Bredenberg and Mrs. Clarence Gustafson. Assisting them in serving were these girls, Miss Julia Wilson, Miss Ellen Rosenberg, Miss Lillie Gilbertson, Miss Irene Brockway, Miss Florence Simmons, Miss Bessie Bredenberg, Miss Elsa Peterson, Miss Gladys Hess, Miss Agnes Swanson, Miss Ruby Cain, Miss Ruth Caldwell, Miss Mildred Olson, Miss Venice Holst, of this city and Miss Naomi Nelson, of Minneapolis.

Papers were read in the afternoon by Roy Reis on "The Organized Class," "Why do not Older Boys Attend Sunday School" by Harry Cregar, "Social Side of a Class" by Arthur Thon and "Service" by Ingolf Dillan. Discussions were led by Axel Anderson, Percy Carbine, Edwin Bacon and Robert Zabel.

In the evening President Ingolf Dillan presided. He spoke on the Geneva conference. Orville Merwin also spoke. Dr. Joseph Nicholson delivered an address. Dr. R. W. Bowden gave his lecture on "The Circle of Brotherhood."

He said that this county was the first to form a county organization. People first thought in terms of the church, then in communities and now counties. His project was to have from each Sunday school in the county conference a man and two boys, elected by each Sunday school council. Steps should be taken to see that each school was organized, to invite every boy of teen age to attend school. Purity, temperance and missions should be encouraged.

He was sure other counties would follow Crow Wing county's leadership and also form county organizations.

PRAISES JUDGE HALE

St. Cloud Journal Press in Editorial Refers to his Selection as Member State Tax Commission

The selection of Judge James T. Hale as a member of the State Tax Commission is being most favorably received. In an editorial the St. Cloud Journal Press says:

"Gov. Eberhart made a good selection when he named Judge Hale as successor to the late O. M. Hall as member of the state tax commission. Judge Hale is one of the able and efficient men of the state, and it has only been his modesty that has kept him from the public gaze long ago. Mr. Hale was one of the strong men of the southern part of the state, and his death will be sincerely regretted."

NORTHERN PACIFIC INTERESTED

Will Send Special Car With Officials and Other Citizens of St. Paul to the Convention

W. H. Gemmell, general manager of the Minnesota & International railroad, informs the Dispatch this morning that the Northern Pacific will send a special car to Brainerd on Wednesday, and that many of the officials of the road and also citizens of St. Paul interested in the development of the northern part of the state will come at that time. The Northern Pacific has always taken a great interest in the meetings of the development associations and they are anxious to do anything that will contribute to the success of the Brainerd meeting. The personnel of the party will be announced tomorrow.

MUSIC AND DRAMA

"Trey O' Hearts" tonight and Tuesday. The twelfth story of this is more than a wonderful serial. The action continues without a break from last week. This play is gradually but surely becoming the most interesting photo ever produced. Everyone is held at the outcome of Rose, Judith and Allan. The same packed house for every run.

Ford Sterling, the always drawer, in "The Battle." As has been said, "Isn't there a double-distilled scream, a triple-plated mirth-convulsion, the quintessence of serene laughter in the sublime spectacle of a child who is naturally, unwittingly funny?" Surely. But a child has to be born to it—and there are but a few of them. Little Billy Jacobs, of the Sterling-Universal company, is one of them.

This comedy, played by children, is in two reels. And you roar. You can't help it.

Our personally selected bookings for December by the representative of the Grand in Minneapolis, are more than exceptional.

At the Columbia

A splendid house and a splendid show tells briefly the story of this popular theatre last night. "Bootles Baby" perhaps deserves special mention for its artistic completeness in every detail. Sidney Drew also appeared to good advantage in a one act play remarkably in keeping with this artists most desirable style of acting.

The entire performance, including music, will again be given tonight. Tomorrow will be the great day with pictures, 2 acts of local vaudeville and an orchestra. Next Saturday afternoon there will be held for the first time in this city a complete show for the children. The "ideal show" for children it might be termed. Of course parents are especially invited to also attend. The proceeds to go to charity.

At Park Theatre

There is novelty and newness about "The Call of the Cumberland," the dramatized version of Charles Neill's famous book put into playing form by Hugo B. Koch and presented for the first time in Brainerd at the Park theatre on Wednesday, Dec. 2. The earlier scenes of the play are laid in the heart of the Cumberland Moun-

CHAPTER XLIII.

Camp-for-the-Night.

"Well, gents!" the driver observed cheerfully, withdrawing head and hands from long and intimate communion with the stubborn genius beneath the hood. "I reckon you-all may's well make up yore minds to christen this hych salubrious spot Camp-for-the-Night. You won't be goin' no farther—not just 't present. Pulling this old wagon through them desert sands back yonder has just naturally broke' the heart of that engine!"

"What, precisely, is the trouble?" Alan Law inquired, rousing from anxious preoccupation.

"Plumb bust' all to hell," the chauffeur explained tersely.

"Nothing could be fairer, more exact and comprehensive than that," Tom Barcus commented.

Law nodded a head too weary to respond to the other's humor. His worried eyes reviewed the scene of the breakdown.

"What's to be done?" Mr. Law wondered aloud.

"Take it calm," the affable chauffeur advised. "Frettin' won't get you-all nothin'. If it was me, I'd call it a day, make a fire, get them cushions out of the crah, and get some rest. You can't do nothin' till I get back, anyway, and that won't be much before sunup."

"Where are you going?" Barcus demanded.

"Walkin', friend; just walkin'—"

"What for?"

"To fetch help—leastways, unless you've got some kick comin' and 'ud ruther stop hych permanent!"

He turned off and busied himself with preparations against his journey.

"It's simply things like this make me believe this isn't, after all, nothing more nor less than a long-drawn-out nightmare," Barcus observed pensively.

But Mr. Law was no more attending; he had turned away and was just then standing by the running-board of the motor car and civilly explaining to Miss Judith Trine the purpose of the chauffeur's expedition.

Discovery of this circumstance worked a deep wrinkle between the brows as well as into the humor of Mr. Barcus.

Here, he promised himself, was a situation to titillate the Comic Muse itself. He pointed out in turn the several component parts: the motor car derelict in the hollow of those awful and silent hills—for all the world like a mouse petrified with fright at finding itself in the midst of a herd of elephants; in the car, that aged monomaniac, Mr. Seneca Trine, author of all their woes and misadventures, gnashing his teeth in impotent rage to find himself in close juxtaposition to and helpless to injure the man for whose life he lusted with an insatiable passion; the latter standing outside the car, in polite conversation with Mr. Trine's mutinous Judith—talking to her in the friendliest fashion imaginable; precisely as if she had not fallen little short of compassing his death, not once, but half a dozen times; Judith herself poised on the running-board and smiling down at her victim with a warmth patently even more than the warmth of friendship; and at some little distance, Rose, Mr. Law's fiancée and Judith's sister, eating her heart out with jealousy of this new-sprung intimacy between her sister and her lover!

"Bad business, my friend!" Barcus mentally apostrophized the unwitting Alan Law.

He interrupted himself to nod knowingly and with profound conviction: "I knew it. Now it begins again!"

For Rose had abruptly taken a hand in the affair, a gesture of exasperation prefacing her call: "Alan!"

To her Mr. Law turned instantly with such alacrity that none who watched might doubt which of the two women came first in his esteem.

Nor was this wasted upon the understanding of Judith. Eyeing her narrowly though furtively, Mr. Barcus saw her handsome face darken ominously.

And her father was as quick to recognize these portents of trouble and to seek to advantage himself of them.

His head craned out horribly on his long, wasted neck as he pitched a sibilant whisper for her ears, and his face in the moonlight seemed to glow with the reflection of that inferno which smoldered in his evil bosom.

But one was silenced, the other quenched, all in a twinkling. His daughter turned on him in a flash of imperial rage.

Barcus caught snatches of the woman's tirade

AGED MAN CHOKED TO DEATH

Chicago Manufacturer Murdered in Office in Business District.

Chicago, Nov. 30.—Emil Emsheimer, an aged manufacturer of hat frames, was strangled to death in his office in the heart of the business district. The murderer evidently pulled down a balance fire escape in the alley at the rear of the building and climbed to the window of the small room where the old man was laboring on invoices.

An immense safe, which apparently was open, was rifled of its contents. Emsheimer, who was sixty-three years old, dissolved partnership about two weeks ago and the police are seeking his former business associate, who, they hope, can tell them something of his affairs which will give them a clue.

SOUP KITCHENS FOR MOTHERS

American Woman Aids War Stricken in London.

Chicago, Nov. 30.—Soup kitchens for war stricken mothers have been opened in London by Mrs. Benjamin Lathrop, an American woman, who took part in similar relief work in San Francisco after the earthquake and fire.

Word of her activities was received in a letter to Mrs. J. B. Cessery, asking if she would undertake to raise funds to relieve conditions which, the writer asserted, were the most appalling she had encountered.

The increase in drunkenness among the poorer women since the war began is one of the biggest problems, Mrs. Lathrop wrote.

RAILWAY EMPLOYEES OUSTED

Wholesale Discharges for Alleged Irregularities in Accounts.

San Francisco, Nov. 30.—Announcement was made by the Southern Pacific Railroad company that thirty-two of its employees had been discharged for alleged irregularities in their accounts and that eighty-five other employees were under investigation and more dismissals probably would follow.

The men involved are conductors, brakemen, dining car stewards and hotel employees. The charges are accepting fares for less than tariff rates, drinking, frequenting saloons while on duty and falsifying meal checks and accounts.

Earthquake Kills Score.

London, Nov. 30.—Twenty-three persons were killed and a number of others were injured in the earthquake which occurred Friday in Western Greece and the Ionian Islands, says a dispatch to the Exchange Telegraph company from Athens.

CALLS VICE LID FAILURE

Mayor of Gary, Ind., Sanctions Re-opening of Red Light District.

Gary, Ind., Nov. 30.—The "red light" district, which has been closed since July 29, reopened here with the sanction of the mayor and the chief of police. The administration announced that the policy of suppression had been practically a failure. They found it impossible to prevent disorderly places springing up in residence sections, they said, and decided the protection of the community demanded a segregated district under police regulation.

"I will be the czar of the district," said the chief of police. "Suppression resulted in the scattering of vice and it was too big a proposition to handle. The new regulations will be strict. Liquor is prohibited."

DEVELOPMENT ASSN. HISTORY

one of the laws passed at the demand of this association were reform measures and were fathered, fought for and brought to realization by the activity of this association's officers and members of the association who were members of the state legislature.

Good roads legislation that has paved the way for a system of highways in this region beyond the dream of most people was the result of the work of this association. New school laws, a new method of the sale of state lands, which has resulted in the past year in disposing of more state lands than in many years prior thereto, increased the taxable value of the north country and reduced thereby the burden of taxation resting upon the settler. An appropriation by the state to schools, distributed to school districts on a basis of the state lands therein, was a method by which the state was taxed for school purposes. The consolidated rural school system and many other reform laws were enacted and all of these measures were first advocated by this association, championed by its members and placed on the statute books by the progressive legislators of 1911. The failure of reappointment to meet success at this session may be said to have more clearly exposed the justice of its demand than anything else could.

The convention held at Duluth in 1911 gave birth to two important progressive steps. A permanent good roads committee was formed and also a permanent immigration committee. Since their organization C. M. King as chairman of the good roads committee has carried on the campaign for a systematic and cohesive line of state rural highways connecting Northern Minnesota with the south and traversing the north region from west to east. The plan of highways now under way, when completed, will have advanced this region many years into the future, opened up the country to a prosperous settlement of the yeomanry of the nation and paved the avenues to industrial markets. It will give access to the reservoirs of the state's greatest wealth in the soil of Northern Minnesota that the thrifty husbandman may make for himself and family a home away from the sordid selfishness of the sweat shops of city strife.

The immigration committee, under the management of W. R. Mackenzie has its headquarters at Minneapolis, and has diverted the stream of settlers bound for the western states and Canada, and sent them to this north region where they are finding better land, better schools, and more contentment than can be offered by any other state or country.

At St. Cloud, in December 1912, the third annual meeting of this association was held, the work of its members was reviewed and its determination re-expressed to continue its policy for further development.

Subsequent meetings have been held at Hinckley in June, 1913, at Bemidji in December, 1913, Thief River Falls June, 1914. From 1910 up to 1913, the association has spent a large proportion of its energies upon legislative re-appointment, consolidated schools and good roads propositions. Owing to the publicity given the entire state to the necessity for re-appointment of legislative districts, a fair and equitable bill was passed by the legislature in 1913. Rural consolidated schools and good roads also came in for good treatment during this session of the legislature.

A matter which the Northern Minnesota Development association can pride itself probably more than any other of its many other important measures, is the publicity which the association has given the matter of public domain. Since the meeting at Brainerd in 1910, when Mr. C. P. Craig of Duluth, brought up the matter of doing away with many commissions and re-organizing the state departments into a department of public domain, a great deal of interest has been shown throughout the state on this proposition which resulted, in the present year, of our governor appointing a committee of thirty prominent citizens of the state to work out an efficiency and economy proposition for state government. This committee will make the first public report of their plans at the Brainerd meeting, through Mr. Craig, who is chairman of the committee of 1914.

Another measure which the legislature gave to the people of Minnesota was a constitutional amendment known as No. 3 on the ballot but which the voters of the state, through a mis-conception of its objects, failed to ratify. Had the voters understood this amendment as it should have been, it would have been ratified by an unanimous vote. A bill is now being prepared to have the legislature pass an amendment which will embody the provisions of the one just defeated but will endeavor to enlarge its scope by making the amendment a thorough reclamation work, not only building roads and ditches, but in clearing up small tracts of land so that state lands will be sold to no one but actual settlers.

Our immigration department has flourished and is giving a good account of itself.

This fall a paper was started known as the "Northern Minnesota Booster" which is sent through the different adjoining states in an endeavor to further enlighten prospective settlers. The paper has met with success from the start.

SAYS KAISER PLANNED WAR

Toronto Editor Asserts Prussian General Visited America.

Chicago, Nov. 30.—That Germany long has been preparing for the war and that in 1913 a retired general of the Prussian army made a secret visit to the United States and informed prominent Germans of detailed plans of the proposed attack was the assertion of Dr. J. A. Macdonald, editor of the Toronto Globe, who spoke at a reunion of the Toronto University Alumni association of Chicago.

"I have it from excellent and undisputable authority," said Dr. Macdonald.

ALLIES ASSUME OFFENSIVE

Situation Along the Yser and Around Ypres Changes.

London, Nov. 30.—During the past few days the situation along the Yser and around Ypres has undergone a very significant change. The offensive has passed from the Kaiser's army to the allies. When and how the allies will make use of the new situation cannot at present be stated, but Joffre and French have a magnificent mobile force at their disposal, ready for the day when the Germans will need some encouragement to leave Belgian soil.

CHILDREN EATEN BY WOLVES

Bones of Boy and Girl Found in Nevada Hills.

Reno, Nev., Nov. 30.—Gross evidence of what is believed to be the murder of a girl about sixteen years old and a boy about nine years old have been found in the hills near Toy, Humboldt county. According to advice received here skulls and bones of the victims have been found by a prospector. The flesh had been eaten away by coyotes and what few garments that could be found were torn into fragments and bloodstained. There was a bullet hole in the skull of the boy.

MOOSE WEAKEN THE REPUBLICANS

Leader Says Progressive Movement Has Been Set Back.

REGRETS BOLT FROM PARTY

Asserts That Roosevelt's Movement Has Awakened Progressive Feeling, but Fears That the Accomplishment of Results Has Been Delayed—Democrats Differ About Election.

By ARTHUR W. DUNN.

Washington, Nov. 30.—[Special.]—One of the Republicans of the senate who have been called Progressives, once a staunch supporter of Colonel Roosevelt, but who refused to follow him out of the Republican party, recently lamented the fact that the Progressive movement as it had been conducted had caused a substantial Progressive loss in congress.

He named a number of progressive Republicans who had lost their seats in the last few years and mentioned others who he said would be defeated in the elections two years hence. Then he mentioned the fact that stand pat Republicans like Penrose, Gallinger, Brandegee and Dillingham had been returned. He feared that the Progressive movement had been set back many years by the manner in which it had been handled.

Regretted Roosevelt's Course.

He expressed great regret that Colonel Roosevelt had seen fit to withdraw from the Republican party at a time when it was possible for the progressive element in that party to obtain control if the colonel had not been impatient and should have been content to wait a few years. This senator praised the work which Colonel Roosevelt had accomplished in the way of awakening the American people to the necessity of taking control of their own affairs, but he believed that the result of Colonel Roosevelt leaving the Republican party would set back the Progressive movement twenty years, particularly if the standpat element should control the party in 1916.

As Democratic members of the house returned to Washington these administration Democrats found that the men who went through the congressional campaign are not quite so well pleased. CHAPTER XLIII.

Camp-for-the-Night.

"Well, gents!" the driver observed cheerfully, withdrawing head and hands from long and intimate communion with the stubborn genius beneath the hood. "I reckon you-all may's well make up yore minds to christen this hych salubrious spot Camp-for-the-Night. You won't be goin' no farther—not just 't present. Pulling this old wagon through them desert sands back yonder has just naturally broke' the heart of that engine!"

"What, precisely, is the trouble?" Alan Law inquired, rousing from anxious preoccupation.

"Plumb bust' all to hell," the chauffeur explained tersely.

"Nothing could be fairer, more exact and comprehensive than that," Tom Barcus commented.

Law nodded a head too weary to respond to the other's humor. His worried eyes reviewed the scene of the breakdown.

"What's to be done?" Mr. Law wondered aloud.

"Take it calm," the affable chauffeur advised. "Frettin' won't get you-all nothin'. If it was me, I'd call it a day, make a fire, get them cushions out of the crah, and get some rest. You can't do nothin' till I get back, anyway, and that won't be much before sunup."

"Where are you going?" Barcus demanded.

"Walkin', friend; just walkin'—"

"What for?"

"To fetch help—leastways, unless you've got some kick comin' and 'ud rather stop hych permanent!"

He turned off and busied himself with preparations against his journey.

"It's simply things like this make me believe this isn't, after all, nothing more nor less than a long-drawn-out nightmare," Barcus observed pensively.

But Mr. Law was no more attending; he had turned away and was just then standing by the running-board of the motor car and civilly explaining to Miss Judith Trine the purpose of the chauffeur's expedition.

Discovery of this circumstance worked a deep wrinkle between the brows as well as into the humor of Mr. Barcus.

Here, he promised himself, was a situation to titillate the Comic Muse itself. He pointed out in turn the several component parts: the motor car derelict in the hollow of those awful and silent hills—for all the world like a mouse petrified with fright at finding itself in the midst of a herd of elephants; in the car, that aged monomaniac, Mr. Seneca Trine, author of all their woes and misadventures, gnashing his teeth in impotent rage to find himself in close juxtaposition to and helpless to injure the man for whose life he lusted with an insatiable passion; the latter standing outside the car, in polite conversation with Mr. Trine's mutinous Judith—talking to her in the friendliest fashion imaginable; precisely as if she had not fallen little short of compassing his death, not once, but half a dozen times; Judith herself poised on the running-board and smiling down at her victim with a warmth patently even more than the warmth of friendship; and at some little distance, Rose, Mr. Law's fiancée and Judith's sister, eating her heart out with jealousy of this new-sprung intimacy between her sister and her lover!

"Bad business, my friend!" Barcus mentally apostrophized the unwitting Alan Law.

He interrupted himself to nod knowingly and with profound conviction: "I knew it. Now it begins again!" For Rose had abruptly taken a hand

DEVELOPMENT ASSN. HISTORY

one of the laws passed at the demand of this association were reform measures and were fathered, fought for and brought to realization by the activity of this association's officers and members of the association who were members of the state legislature.

Good roads legislation that has paved the way for a system of highways in this region beyond the dream of most people was the result of the work of this association. New school laws, a new method of the sale of state lands, which has resulted in the past year in disposing of more state lands than in many years prior thereto, increased the taxable value of the north country and reduced thereby the burden of taxation resting upon the settler. An appropriation by the state to schools, distributed to school districts on a basis of the state lands therein, was a method by which the state was taxed for school purposes. The consolidated rural school system and many other reform laws were enacted and all of these measures were first advocated by this association, championed by its members and placed on the statute books by the progressive legislators of 1911. The failure of reapportionment to meet success at this session may be said to have more clearly exposed the justice of its demand than anything else could.

The convention held at Duluth in 1911 gave birth to two important progressive steps. A permanent good roads committee was formed and also a permanent immigration committee. Since their organization C. M. King as chairman of the good roads committee has carried on the campaign for a systematic and cohesive line of state rural highways connecting Northern Minnesota with the south and traversing the north region from west to east. The plan of highways now under way, when completed, will have advanced this region many years into the future, opened up the country to a prosperous settlement of the yeomanry of the nation and paved the avenues to industrial markets. It will give access to the reservoirs of the state's greatest wealth in the soil of Northern Minnesota that the thrifty husbandman may make for himself and family a home away from the sordid selfishness of the sweat shops of city strife.

The immigration committee, under the management of W. R. Mackenzie has its headquarters at Minneapolis, and has diverted the stream of settlers bound for the western states and Canada, and sent them to this north region where they are finding better land, better schools, and more contentment than can be offered by any other state or country. At St. Cloud, in December 1912, the third annual meeting of this association was held, the work of its members was reviewed and its determination re-expressed to continue its policy for further development. Subsequent meetings have been held at Hinckley in June, 1913, at Bemidji in December, 1913, Thief River Falls June, 1914.

From 1910 up to 1913, the association has spent a large proportion of its energies upon legislative reapportionment, consolidated schools and good roads propositions. Owing to the publicity given the entire state to the necessity for reapportionment of legislative districts, a fair and equitable bill was passed by the legislature in 1913. Rural consolidated schools and good roads also came in for good treatment during this session of the legislature. A matter which the Northern Minnesota Development association can pride itself probably more than any other of its many other important measures, is the publicity which the association has given the matter of public domain. Since the meeting at Brainerd in 1910, when Mr. C. P. Craig of Duluth, brought up the matter of doing away with many commissions and re-organizing the state departments into a department of public domain, a great deal of interest has been shown throughout the state on this proposition which resulted, in the present year, of our governor appointing a committee of thirty prominent citizens of the state to work out an efficiency and economy proposition for state government. This committee will make the first public report of their plans at the Brainerd meeting, through Mr. Craig, who is chairman of the committee of thirty.

Another measure which the legislature gave to the people of Minnesota was a constitutional amendment known as No. 3 on the ballot but which the voters of the state, through a mis-conception of its objects, failed to ratify. Had the voters understood this amendment as it should have been, it would have been ratified by an unanimous vote. A bill is now being prepared to have the legislature pass an amendment which will embody the provisions of the one just defeated but will endeavor to enlarge its scope by making the amendment a thorough reclamation work, not only building roads and ditches, but in clearing up small tracts of land so that state lands will be sold to no one but actual settlers.

Our immigration department has flourished and is giving a good account of itself.

This fall a paper was started known as the "Northern Minnesota Booster" which is sent through the different adjoining states in an endeavor to further enlighten prospective settlers. The paper has met with success from the start.

SAYS KAISER PLANNED WAR

Toronto Editor Asserts Prussian General Visited America.

Chicago, Nov. 30.—That Germany long has been preparing for the war and that in 1913 a retired general of the Prussian army made a secret visit to the United States and informed prominent Germans of detailed plans of the proposed attack was the assertion of Dr. J. A. Macdonald, editor of the Toronto Globe, who spoke at a reunion of the Toronto University Alumni association of Chicago.

"I have it from excellent and undisputed authority," said Dr. Macdonald.

Situation Along the Yser and Around Ypres Changes.

London, Nov. 30.—During the past few days the situation along the Yser and around Ypres has undergone a very significant change. The offensive has passed from the Kaiser's army to the allies. When and how the allies will make use of the new situation cannot at present be stated, but Joffre and French have a magnificent mobile force at their disposal, ready for the day when the Germans will need some encouragement to leave Belgian soil.

Bones of Boy and Girl Found in Nevada Hills.

Reno, Nev., Nov. 30.—Gross evidence of what is believed to be the murder of a girl about sixteen years old and a boy about nine years old have been found in the hills near Toy, Humboldt county. According to advices received here skulls and bones of the victims have been found by a prospector. The flesh had been eaten away by coyotes and what few garments that could be found were torn into fragments and bloodstained. There was a bullet hole in the skull of the boy.

cratic victory, as claimed by the administration officeholders, or whether there was not something of a setback. They at least believe there is room for an argument on the question, and they cannot but realize the elation which Republicans show over the recent elections.

A Sentimental Secretary. There is no man in public life that is given over to sentiment quite so much as Secretary Bryan. He has put sentiment into politics all his life and he carries it into his work at the state department. No man who is not full of sentiment would have had swords made into plowshares and given them out as souvenirs to ambassadors and ministers of foreign countries and to members of the cabinet and other officials. The peace token which this implied was more of a grim reminder than a sentiment to men who represent the foreign countries now at war.

A Real Referendum. If the advocates of peace that assemble in the next Hague conference can secure an international agreement which will prevent the declaration of war by any country until the question has been submitted to the people of that country a long step will have been taken in the direction of establishing universal peace. That is the kind of a referendum which would be extremely popular.

Nearly every person in the world who has ever said anything on the subject, and therefore it can be taken as a universal opinion, is opposed to war, yet there is war raging now worse than ever before. The people do not want war, but they cannot help themselves.

Cuban Politeness. Colonel George B. Davis of the army told a couple of stories the other day to illustrate the politeness of the Cubans. For instance, they will say of a bald headed man, "Who ever saw a bald headed donkey?"

Then in regard to fat women the Cubans say in extenuation, "No one ever sees what beautiful bones she has."
